

Partners Advisory Committee

What work do we do with the ICCRP?

The Partners' Advisory Committee (PAC) involves partner organizations from around the world that support our work together. The PAC members work with ICCRP Staff and the Steering Committee to advise on research directions to ensure that the ICCRP maintains its focus on research, policy, and practice and remains responsive to partner contexts and priorities. It plays a crucial role in supporting the interpretation and relevance of findings from the perspectives of national and international organizations directly involved in children's rights research, policy, and practice.

What does our work look like?/How do we do what we do?

Our partners offer invaluable advice across a spectrum of topics. For instance, they have been instrumental in supporting the ICCRP in various ways, including assisting with preparations for our upcoming in-person gathering in July 2024, through recent meetings where they:

- Shared insights gained from their previous intergenerational events;
- Identified successful collaborative intergenerational initiatives;
- Provided ideas to facilitate interpretation across different languages; and
- Offered guidance based on their experiences supporting international travel for young participants.

Our partnership with them is indispensable, and we deeply appreciate their substantial contributions and ongoing support, which are crucial in enhancing our collective efforts.

What are we doing?/What have we done so far?

We have met virtually three times per year since June 2022.
