School of Policy Studies Message

Dear Delegates:

Welcome to this year's 3rd Annual Health Policy, Programming and Practice Event! We are delighted to be hosting this year's event, in partnership with the Faculty of Community Services. The event this year has focused on the theme of priority populations. This is a very timely and current issue that touches on so many public policy and programming concerns in Ontario and Canada today, particularly in the face of the growing health inequities gap. The agenda and roster of speakers reflects diverse issues associated with the challenges and successes in health policy-making, services delivery, and care for priority populations in Ontario and Canada, including seniors, Indigenous children and families, homeless, racialized women, refugee and immigrant populations, to name a few. As a result, we have taken an interdisciplinary approach to developing the event's content, cutting across Ryerson University faculties and external health and social sectors in Ontario and Canada to ensure an exciting and engaging opportunity for you to learn, dialogue and network.

I hope you enjoy the event. Lastly, I would like to take the opportunity to thank the moderators and speakers for agreeing to participate, the sponsors, the supporters, and the students and staff who helped to make this event possible, Siu Mee Cheng, Mary Beth Kraay, Elizabeth Choi and Mustafa Koç.

Sincerely,

Ron Vogel, PhD

Director of PhD in Policy Studies & Professor of Politics and Public Administration
