Business Analysts in Canada - Insight From Job Postings

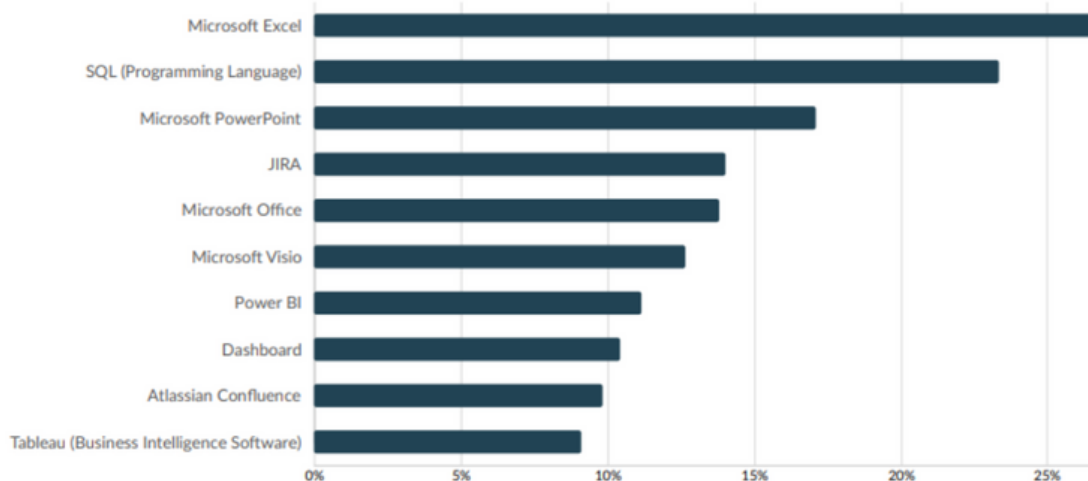

The Role of a Business Analyst

Top Technical Skills

Using Lightcast as our source, we collected data from 2,944 postings and uncovered the top skills employers are looking for in applicants for Business Analyst postings.

Top Technical Skills for a Business Analyst, Based on Job Postings

As we can clearly see, Microsoft Excel, SQL, and Microsoft PowerPoint are the most demanded technical skills - JIRA, Visio and Power BI, and Tableau are also in the top ten.

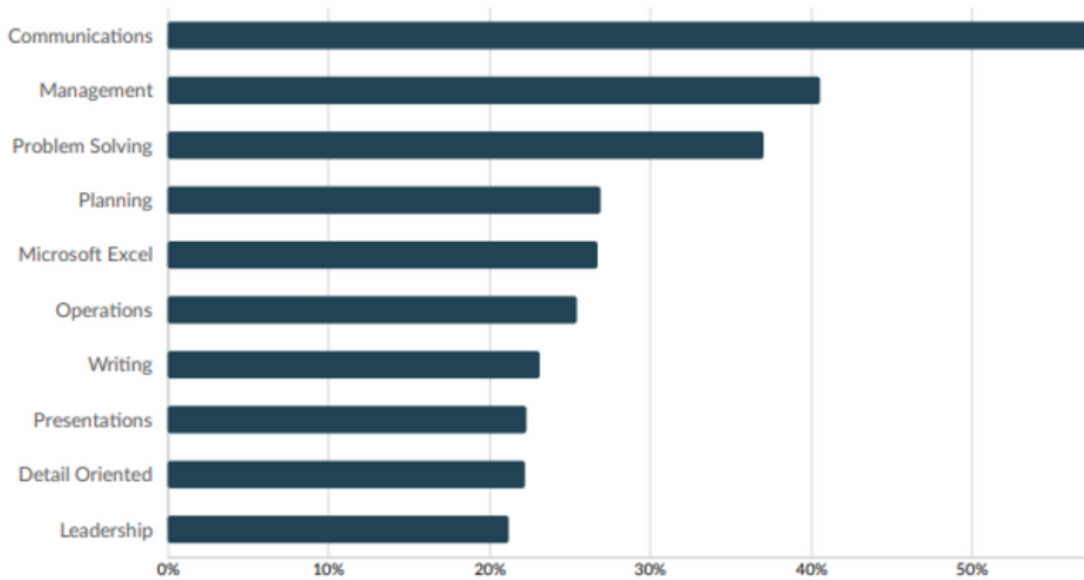

If you feel your skills in these areas could be stronger, get yourself enrolled in one of our FREE bootcamps.

Top Soft Skills

While technical skills are important, your ability to demonstrate your soft (professional) skills is equally critical to success.

Based on these same job postings, it was clear that the ability to communicate, manage yourself and others, and solve problems was most desired among employers active in hiring Business Analysts.
