Staff Accountant

Graduates of this program go on to secure roles in taxation, auditing, cybersecurity, internal auditing, consulting, and even marketing and sales!

Pursuing a CPA Designation

Most graduates of the Accounting program earn their 'Chartered Professional Accountant' (CPA) designation, conferred by CPA Ontario.

The CPA designation demonstrates to an employer, and their clients, that you have achieved a high level of specialization in the field of accounting. The designation also acknowledges a strong managerial skill set, an absolute must in this competitive sector.⁴

The CPA designation is earned after you complete your degree, complete either the CPA Professional Education Program (PEP) or TRSM PMDiploma, fulfill the 30 months of relevant full-time experience, and pass the CFE exam.⁵

“ Courses such as 'forensic accounting' and 'ethics in accounting' have given me an understanding of alternative professions outside of public accounting. Audit allowed me to build a solid foundation of the key concepts, helping me excel during my time with KPMG. My extracurriculars at TRSM helped me develop my soft skills - something that cannot be taught in the classroom (e.g. interpersonal and organizational skills). Being a part of TMA helped boost my resume by showcasing additional skill sets outside of academics. Accounting students should participate in networking sessions (network is your net worth!). This not only helps with getting your name out in the industry but it can showcase all the potential non-traditional careers as a CPA.
